

Current Displays: This month we pay tribute to fathers with a display of books to do with fathers and sons and fathers and daughters. The library will also display travel books so you may plan your next summer trip. We will also have a weather book display in connection with the June Skywarn weather spotters training program on Tuesday, June 12, 6:30-8:30 pm. In one glass case, we will have a display on 1968 with various items and information from that turbulent year in connection with our upcoming LTAI Race and Justice series. In our other glass case display Greetings from Norway, Maine we will feature Maine postcards on loan from Norway Historical Society in connection with summer and our Visual History of Maine Through Postcards program we will have Thursday, July 31, 6:30 pm. We are pleased to have framed photos from the Norway Historical Society in our reference room featuring Norway Lake and surrounding areas which will be up through June and July.

Got Books? Beginning in May, the Friends of the Library accept clean, gently used paperback and hardcover books for the annual book sale. Please no encyclopedias, text books, book club or Reader's Digest books, CDs, videotape, or DVDs. Please bring into side entrance of library through July 7. Thank you!

Let's Talk About It Race and Justice in America

This series explores the complex, and often uneasy, relationship between black Americans and the American justice system. The facilitator will be Dr. Leroy Rowe, USM Assistant Professor of African American Politics and History. This program is sponsored by the Maine Humanities Council. Please stop by the information desk to pick up a book for discussion.
